[0060]   ~~Fig. 11 is a table~~Fig. 11a-11c is a table of exemplary sentences to be compressed in multiple languages.  Each sentence contains an English sentence and the sentence written in the Dutch, German, French, Chinese and Japanese languages. The compression of constituents having low informativity is shown with a strike through. An English language gloss with a literal translation appears below each alternate language phrase to indicate the constituents in each phrase for each language. Thus, it will be apparent that the system for generating analytic summaries 100 can be used with any language for which parts of speech, informativity of constituents and grammatical readability can be determined.
